Program Description

This annual conference is designed to assist practicing pathologists in the accurate and timely diagnosis of genitourinary pathology, present challenges and opportunities of laboratory directorship, identify ways pathologists can bring added value to their practice, and explore new innovations in diagnostic methods. The expected outcome is that practicing pathologists will receive increased knowledge in the selected fields presented by experts, and will be able to increase knowledge, refine already employed techniques, and learn to apply new techniques for the improvement of practice and patient care.

Conference Site

The conference will be held at the Hilton Tucson El Conquistador at 10000 North Oracle Road in Tucson. A block of sleeping rooms has been reserved at a rate of $165 plus tax.

Please contact the hotel by March 10, 2014 at 1.800.325.7832 and reference the Arizona Society of Pathologists to make a reservation for Friday, April 4 and/or Saturday, April 5.

Special Event

This year's meeting will again feature a Society dinner on Saturday evening with resident presentations offering 1 hour of CME credit. Paid registrants and their guests may attend dinner for a nominal fee of $35. Be sure to indicate on the registration form that you wish to attend dinner.

Educational Objectives

At the conclusion, the attendee should be able to:

- Identify and address the challenges that clinical laboratories presently face and recognize the opportunities available to medical leadership to help overcome such challenges and lead to success.
- Cite the emerging needs of healthcare and use examples provided to learn how Pathologists and Medical Laboratorians can effectively meet them.
- Recognize newly recognized subtypes of renal cell carcinoma; identify the most clinically important variants of urothelial carcinoma and understand their clinical significance; make a diagnosis of prostatic adenocarcinoma and exclude possible benign mimics of adenocarcinoma with only a limited amount of lesional tissue present.
- Explain different treatment paradigms for genitourinary malignancies based on tumor heterogeneity as identified on histology and molecular markers.

ACCME/AMA PRA Accreditation

This activity has been planned and implemented in accordance with the Essential Areas and Policies of the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) through the Joint Sponsorship of The University of Arizona College of Medicine at the Arizona Health Sciences Center and The Arizona Society of Pathologists. The University of Arizona College of Medicine at the Arizona Health Sciences Center is accredited by the ACCME to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

The University of Arizona College of Medicine at the Arizona Health Sciences Center designates this live activity for a maximum of 7.0 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Speaker/Planner Disclosures

Drs. Grignon, Hunter, Proytcheva and Singh and all planners affiliated with this activity have disclosed that they do not have a financial interest, arrangement or affiliation that would constitute a conflict of interest. Dr. Grogan has disclosed that he is founder and Chief Scientific Officer of Ventana Medical Systems, a company that develops, manufactures, and markets instrument reagent systems that automate tissue and slide staining in anatomic pathology laboratories. Dr. Grogan's presentation was reviewed by a member of the CME Planning Committee, who determined that the presentation gave a well-balanced, evidence-based, and unbiased approach to diagnostic and therapeutic options related to quality patient care.
